

Tradition · Innovation

Tradition belongs to the order of what is atuqsaq: a usable thing, worthy of being used as the best of roads, subject to re-actualization, but preciously preserved.

---

The present doesn't exist without the past and the future is constructed from the present.

---

A dynamic conception of time

Non-linear way to conceive time, both past and future can be altered by the present

The individual as the actor for change

Beings of transition, Inuit learn within their family to use the experiences lived by their ancestors and by themselves

Deep consciousness of elements of the past

The very idea of tradition implies a referent: it can lie dormant in the depths of consciousness or benefit from a perceptible actuality

Reasoning for informed decision making/Associative thought

The flexibility required to make choices in a multidimensional environment where tradition is still at work
